

LES INSTITUTIONS FINANCIÈRES AUTOCHTONES

Les institutions financières autochtones (IFA) sont des organisations financières communautaires autonomes, contrôlées par les autochtones. Les IFA offrent des prêts au développement, du financement d'entreprise et des services de soutien aux entreprises des Premières nations, des Métis et des Inuit dans toutes les provinces et territoires. Le soutien comprend des prêts aux entreprises, des contributions non remboursables, des conseils financiers et de gestion, ainsi que des services de démarrage et de suivi des entreprises.
